2 Men Held to Grand Jury In Local Robberies

Took Tools Valued At $960, Police, Deputies Report

Two Youngstown area men were bound over to the Columbiana County grand jury today, charged with two city burglaries in which they netted over $960 worth of tools, tires and other articles.

Richard Allen Clinton, 19, of Girard pleaded guilty and James John Combs, 21, of Youngstown pleaded not guilty to the charges when they appeared before Judge Luther Donbar in Northwest County Court. Bond was set at $500 each.

The men are charged with the Oct. 17 robbery of the Red Angels Clubs garage at 150 1/2 S. Lincoln Ave. and a burglary the weekend of Oct. 8 at a garage belonging to Albert Schnorrenberg of 850 W. State St. All the stolen articles have been recovered.

The defendants were picked up by city police and Columbiana County Sheriff's Department officers at 12:30 a.m. Saturday and were taken to the police department here for questioning.

Sign Statements
A short time after questioning began, both men signed statements admitting their part in the robberies.

More than $738 worth of tools, welding equipment and torches were taken from the Red Angels' garage and more than $225 in tires, wheels and automotive equipment was taken from Schnorrenberg's garage. About $400 worth of tools in the Red Angels garage burglary belong to Robert Shasteen of 1680 Jennings Ave.

Police and sheriff's deputies spent nearly all day Saturday picking up the stolen property which the pair had left at many locations in Youngstown, Girard and Liberty Township.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch reported that his office received a call from the Girard Police department this morning saying that more property believed stolen in robberies in this area has been turned in there.

Since all the articles taken in the two robberies the men admitted.

Russia Bows Out

U.S. To Continue Moon Landing Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's full speed ahead for the U.S. program to land a man on the moon in this decade.

That's the way American space officials greeted Sunday the news from Moscow that Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently has pulled his country out of any moon race.

And Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, chairman of the Senate Space committee, agreed.

"First of all, I do not believe we should develop our space programs on the basis of the press statements of Mr. Khrushchev," the New Mexico Democrat told The Associated Press. However, there were signs elsewhere that the Russian leader's move may provide ammunition for American critics of heavy space spending.

In an interview Saturday night in Moscow with touring journalists, Khrushchev declared:

"At present we are not planning manned moon flights."

"I have read a report to the effect that the Americans want to land a man on the moon by 1970. Well, I wish them success. And we shall watch how they fly there, how they come to earth, or rather come to the moon, and, this is the main thing, how the take off and return home..."

The reaction in Washington was varied.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Khrushchev's statement "could have the effect of strengthening this country's desire to go ahead with the moon program."

Secretary Says Six Divisions Will Remain

But Diplomatically Asserts Europe Not Doing Share

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, seeking to still West German fears that last week's massive troop airlift foreshadows a military manpower cut, has pledged the United States will keep six divisions in Germany as long as necessary.

Rusk also joined Sunday with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in an appeal for a strong Atlantic Alliance. Both cautioned against any loosening of ties with the United States.

Speak At Dedication

Rusk and the new West German government leader spoke at the dedication of a memorial honoring the late Gen. George C. Marshall, who as secretary of state gave his name to the economic blueprint known as the Marshall Plan for the recovery of postwar Europe.

Both speakers appeared to be aiming their remarks at President Charles de Gaulle of France, who has warned that one day the United States may decide to withdraw its forces from Europe. He has urged the creation of an independent European acting as a third force in world politics.

Rusk arrived in Germany at the end of last week's exercise Big Lift in which an entire armored division was flown here from Texas in less than three days.

"We have six divisions in Germany," Rusk said.

"We intend to maintain these

Dedication Of Chapel At Clinic Set

Dedication services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday for the Andrew MacLeod Memorial Chapel at the Salem Central Clinic and Hospital.

The chapel is a gift of Mrs. Ina Manning MacLeod in memory of her husband, Andrew, who was treasurer of the Mullins Manufacturing Co. for many years and was a prominent civic leader.

Rev. Richard Gaffney of St. Pauls Catholic Church will give the invocation and read the Scripture for the service. Atty. Lozier Caplan, representing Dr. Sidney M. Berkowitz of Rodef Shalom Temple in Youngstown, will present the dedicatory address and Rev. Daniel Keister of Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church and president of the Salem Area Ministerial Association will give the prayer of dedication and the benediction.

A reception will be held in the main hospital waiting room immediately following the service. The public is invited to attend.

Albert R. Hanna, Clinic administrator, stated that "this chapel is a very worthwhile and significant addition to our hospital. It will fill a need which has long existed for our patients and their families, providing a quiet place for meditation in times of stress and anxiety."

Pilot Drops Note, Lands Plane Safely

AKRON — An Alliance flier made a dramatic emergency landing at Akron Municipal Airport Sunday after the landing gear on his airplane was damaged on take-off.

George Monea, a well-known professional stunt pilot in northern Ohio, escaped without injury.

Monea, who had no radio in the small plane, dropped a note at Miller Airfield near Alliance, asking ground crews there to notify Akron Municipal Airport he was on his way for an emergency landing.

With a cool head and 16 years of flying behind him, Monea then flew the plane around an hour to use up excess gasoline before coming in for a near-perfect landing.

Five fire trucks and an ambulance stood by.

"It's the first time I've ever been stuck in the air and couldn't get down," said Monea, 31, of 345 South St. in Alliance.

2 Are Injured In Cycle-Car Crash

SEBRING — A motorcycle - auto collision Saturday night at 10 at E. Ohio Ave. and 14th St. sent two young cyclists from North Benton and Sebring to Alliance City Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Leslie L. Ormiston, 20, of RD 1, Hevler Rd., North Benton, lost four teeth and suffered multiple abrasions of the body and his passenger, William Rasile, 19, of 276 W. Wisconsin Ave., Sebring, received abrasions of the left arm and knee when they were thrown from their motorcycle.

Their vehicle struck the left side of a car driven by Miss Gloria J. Morgan, 20, of 1125 Parkway Blvd., Alliance, and slid across the pavement, unseating its passengers.

Police said Miss Morgan was going south on 14th St. and the youths were cycling west on E. Ohio when the mishap occurred. Miss Morgan said she had stopped for the stop sign on 14th and didn't see the motorcycle coming as she turned east on Ohio. She was arrested for failing to yield the right of way.

Shooting Of Youth Probed

An investigation is being conducted by the sheriff's department in the shooting early Sunday morning of a 17-year-old West Township youth.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossen reported that James Lee Sanor of RD 2, Minerva, was treated at 1:33 a.m. Sunday at Alliance City Hospital after he was wounded by shotgun pellets near the Ernest Morrison home, north of East Rochester.

Sanor was with Paul Prendergast, 17, his brother, Eugene Prendergast, 14, and William Darr, 17, who lives with the Prendergasts, at RD 2, Minerva, when the shooting incident occurred shortly after midnight Saturday night while the youths were Halloweening, the sheriff said.

The boys drove to the Morrison home on Buffalo Rd., scrawled on the windows and walls and returned to their car. They told Deputy James Gause, they returned later and drove past the house several times. On the last trip, they heard a shot and Sanor yelled.

They took him to a doctor's office in Minerva. He was taken later to Alliance City Hospital. Morrison told Deputy Gause he was cut on the porch but didn't fire a gun.

N. Jackson Woman Wounded By Gun

Miss Catherine Siegel of Palmyra Rd., North Jackson, is in fairly good condition at Salem Central Clinic with a facial gunshot wound which she says was self-inflicted Sunday about 1:30 p.m.

Mahoning Deputy Sheriff Cy Terna said the incident occurred at the home of Carl Longenecker, 29, who lives above a garage in Berlin Center. Carl said he had a 22-rifle in his home which his companion apparently used to inflict the wound. The bullet pierced Miss Siegel's lower left jaw.

Longenecker told the deputy he and Miss Siegel had just finished dinner when he went into the garage to look at a car he had torn down. Catherine came around the corner of the house, he said, and when he turned around to face her, blood was streaming down her face. He took her to the clinic where she was admitted at 1:40 p.m.

Lt. Orlando DiLullo of the sheriff's office said Miss Siegel was incoherent at the time.

Kennedy Gets Reply Today On Rights Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy gets the answer today to his request for bipartisan agreement on a civil rights bill.

The House Judiciary Committee is due to vote Tuesday on a bill Kennedy fears is too controversial to pass. Whether it can be blocked depends on the success of an intensive seeling campaign by the administration.

Since Thursday, when Kennedy won a postponement of the crucial committee vote, the Justice Department has been negotiating with House Republican leaders to see how strong a bill they will accept.

A busy round of weekend meetings with Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, ranking Republican on the judiciary committee, who kept in close touch by telephone with minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, led to cautious hopes an agreement might be possible.

Democratic leaders were scheduled to meet with Kennedy late today to find out what the GOP position is and decide

Illia Says Misunderstanding by U.S. Impairs Relations With Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — In his easy-going country doctor manner, President Arturo U. Illia diagnosed the ailment afflicting relations between the United States and Argentina and the rest of Latin America, for that matter. The disease: Misunderstanding, mostly by Americans, in his view.

"This is one of the fundamental questions that the American people must understand: We in Latin America are making a real effort to try to stabilize ourselves," he said.

Americans, he implied, could help by understanding the action his government plans to take in nullifying multimillion dollar contracts with U.S. oil firms. This is something that must be done, he said, despite the fact that the plans already have created a bad turn in U.S.-Argentina relations.

The 63-year-old, white-haired back-country physician displayed enormous confidence in a 90-minute interview that he could do the job ahead of him: Rebuilding Argentina after a long period of military domination that shattered the nation's democratic government.

Elected July 7 and inaugurated

Oct. 12, Illia is only new beginning to formulate action programs for economic, social and political reforms he and his people's radical party are pledged to make.

Until he became president, Illia practiced medicine and was active in politics in the central province of Cordoba. He is a tall, slender, fatherly man. He has impressed American diplomats and businessmen here as sincerely determined to carry through his reform program.

Here are a series of questions and answers given during the interview:

Q—Mr. President, as you know, Cuba has been expelled from the Organization of American States. In this sense, would you be in favor of re-admitting Cuba to the O.A.S.

A—I think we should do our best for Cuba and the Cuban people to be restored to democracy, to inter-American life and to participation in the O.A.S. There exists a decision taken by the American nations in the last conference, and we respect it.

Another question, Mr. President, also on the theme of foreign policy. Have you had

Rain Gives Only Minor Relief

Spotty Fall Occurs In Nation's East

CHICAGO (AP)—Light rain, the first measurable amounts in weeks, dampened parched areas in Eastern drought sections today but afforded only minor relief from the prolonged dry spell.

Unseasonably mild weather covered broad areas in Eastern and Southern parts of the nation Sunday. Temperatures soared to the 80s and upper 70s, setting record high marks for Oct. 27.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the spotty rainfall from the Ozarks northeastward to the northern Appalachians and in parts of New York state did little to relieve the severe drought conditions. The only substantial rains, the bureau said, splashed along the Ohio River in Indiana and Kentucky, with up to about one inch.

Today's light showers were in areas associated with a cold frontal system extending from central New England southwestward to Arkansas.

Showers were in prospect during the day from southeast Texas into Maryland, areas included in the vast drought belt which extends from the Southern Plains into New England. The drought and forest fires have caused millions of dollars damage to crops and property.

3 Trapped Miners Are Well, Cheerful

BROISTEDT, Germany (AP) — Three German miners trapped for over 80 hours in a flooded iron mine cheerfully reported today they are fit and well.

The miners reported to the surface through a communication shaft bored 259 feet down to the air pocket in which they were enclosed by water.

It will be at least Wednesday before a second shaft, wide enough to bring them up, can be completed, rescue officials said.

During the night, rescuers offered the men a deck of playing cards. But they declined the offer, explaining that only two of the three were card players.

"We lack the third man for skat," they said. Skat is a popular German card game that requires a minimum of three players.

The men are in a gallery with space equivalent to a four-room apartment. They have oxygen cylinders which were being used for welding when the flood waters poured in Thursday after a nearby dam broke.

Forty other miners have been given up for lost. Another 79 escaped within three hours of the accident and seven others were brought out later.

At 8 a.m. today, the wide shaft had been sunk 40 feet in nearly 20 hours of boring.

A second rescue shaft also was begun. During the night, a concrete air lock was constructed. It will keep the air pressure in the shaft above normal so water will not get into the end where the men are sitting.

The three men were identified as Emil Pohla, 34, Fritz Leder, 36, and Gerhard Hanasch, 43.

Lisbon Driver Hurt As Car Strikes Pole

Allen Ray Jackson, 25, of RD 3, Lisbon, was cut and bruised in one of five Sunday traffic accidents investigated by the Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol. Three motorists were cited and a deer was killed.

Jackson was taken to Salem City Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the right arm and bruises of the neck and left arm and leg.

The Patrol said Jackson was driving on Township Rd. 911 (McIntosh Rd.), about two miles northeast of Route 45, Sunday morning at 2 when he lost control of his auto and struck a utility pole.

Robert L. Donahue, 21, of East Liverpool was cited for improper backing and no operator's license after he knocked over a mailbox while turning around Sunday at 1:30 p.m. on Route 30, two tenths of a mile north of East Liverpool.

Richard Leslie, 27, of Tuscarawas struck and killed a deer running across Route 170, about four miles south of Negley, Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The patrol said a Lisbon area youth was traveling too fast for conditions on the Y. & O. Rd., three miles northwest of Route 267, and lost control of his car on a curve. The vehicle went left of center, off the damp highway and overturned at 2:55 p.m. The operator, Joseph W. Hoppel, 16, of RD 3, Lisbon, was cited to Juvenile Court.

A car driven by Robert Bryan, 28, of RD 5, Lisbon, was sideswiped Sunday at 4 p.m. on Route 45, about two miles south of Route 344, by another auto operated by Ralph Endsley, 49, of Cleveland, but neither motorist was hurt. Endsley was cited for improper passing.

Murder Trial Of Canton Man Opens

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—One of Canton's biggest murder trials opens today as Robert K. Domer, 44-year-old former Canton mortgage investment broker, fights for his life against the state's charge that he killed Howard F. Riddle last April 23.

Riddle, 54-year-old Akron fruit peddler, was found in Domer's burned automobile on a road near the Wayne - Stark County line. Authorities at first believed the burned body was Domer's. However, dental and scientific tests determined the victim was Riddle. Police learned that Riddle had become acquainted with Domer.

Authorities allege that Domer faked suicide and killed Riddle to collect an estimated $288,000 in personal insurance, $152,000 in life insurance and $136,000 in accident coverage.

A list of 125 names of prospective jurors — 50 more than usual has been prepared. Common Pleas Court Judge George N. Graham will preside.

Domer faces two first-degree murder counts. The one filed here accuses him of abduction resulting in death. The other, filed in Massillon, alleges murder committed purposely and with premeditated malice. Conviction on either, provided the jury does not recommend mer-

JFK Sees Parallel In Barry's Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy reportedly sees a parallel between Sen. Barry Goldwater's political situation today and his own four years ago.

Kennedy has told recent White House visitors he thinks Goldwater is in about the same position with regard to the Republican nomination as he himself was in relation to the 1960 Democratic nomination before the presidential primaries.

The President was said to have compared the opposition he faced then in Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., with that Goldwater confronts today in New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The President's analysis was that Humphrey had no real chance to get the nomination, but was in a position to kill off Kennedy's chances if he could win some important primaries. Similarly, he was quoted as saying Rockefeller could damage Goldwater greatly.

Asked about these reports, Goldwater reminded that he is not an announced candidate, as Kennedy was in 1960. But the Arizona said he had no particular reason to quarrel with Kennedy's purported analysis.

"I have never discounted Gov. Rockefeller as a possible opponent," Goldwater said. "I think he will give a good account of himself if he enters the primaries."

Humphrey said in a separate interview he agrees with the President's views as reported to him.

"I think that's probably right," he said. "Rockefeller may not be able to get the nomination, but he could do Goldwater a lot of damage."

Kennedy has left the public impression in some of his remarks a battle with Goldwater next year. This could produce the kind of "interesting" and tough campaign he has predicted.

Administration strategists do not take lightly the prospect of a Kennedy-Goldwater race.

Most of them say privately that Goldwater would run more strongly in the already rebellious south than any other Republican. They think he would be tough in the border states, the Midwest and the Rocky Mountain states.

But they believe a Goldwater candidacy would solidify labor and minority blocs behind the President. They think they could win such an election contest in the big electoral-vote industrial states, California included.

Boy Scouts Help Police Search for Clues In Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A score of Boy Scouts were called upon Sunday to help police search for clues in the slaying of wealthy Richard S. Richards.

For two hours, scouts from Berea Troop 639 picked through waist-high weeds behind a Howard Johnson's Restaurant in suburban Strongsville looking for two keys. The restaurant adjoins Howard Johnson's motor lodge, in which Richards and John Vanatta, charged with Richards' murder, were partners for a time.

The keys are "very important to the case," said Chief Deputy Carl Narducci of the Sheriff's Office. He, Police Chief T. L. Yanke of Berea and Police Capt. Jerome I. Koble directed the key search.

No keys were found. Neither he nor Narducci would say whose keys were being sought or why.

Berea police had to have a key made to open the trunk of Richards' car the day his beaten body was found inside it. The car and body were found Oct. 7 at a Berea bus stop.

Vanatta, of Strongsville, was charged with first-degree murder Saturday.

Ohio Fireworks Plant Severely Damaged by Blast

BELLAIRF Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Fireworks Co. plant here, nearly demolished by a shattering explosion Saturday night that destroyed 82 buildings, is expected to resume production in about three weeks, a company official says.

The spokesman, Veto Presutti, said damage to the complex, located on a hilltop in this Eastern Ohio community, was estimated at $300,000.

The explosion knocked out windows in a wide area surrounding the plant and a giant, mushroom-shaped cloud, visible for some 15 miles, rose over the city.

Embers, skyrockets and colorful gunpowder displays showered the area, causing numerous fires and destroying all but five of the 87 buildings on the plant grounds. Nearly 600 firemen from 50 fire departments in Ohio and West Virginia fought the blazes.

At one time it was feared the flames might reach a building containing some 25 tons of dynamite, and about 100 families in the area were evacuated. However, the building was saved and the families were permitted to return to their homes.

The building containing the dynamite is owned by the Austin Powder Co., which leases the site from the fireworks firm and sells explosives to construction firms and coal mines in the area.

ARCHBISHOP HONORED

CLEVELAND (AP) — Archbishop Edward F. Hoban, 85-year-old head of the Cleveland diocese, was honored Sunday night for 60 years as a priest by about 1,000 officers of Cleveland area Holy Name societies.

He also celebrated his 35th anniversary as ordinary of a diocese and his 18th as archbishop of Cleveland.

VOTE STRIKE AUTHORITY
SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Grievances over 26 issues being negotiated with the Ford Motor Co. plant here have prompted members of United Auto Workers Local 1216 to vote strike authority. More than 1,000 UAW members took the action Sunday.

Local President Hugh Smith said no strike was imminent and that negotiations of 23 health and safety issues and three work standard differences would continue.

Ohio Needs $250 Million Now

There's no guesswork about the increase in enrollment in Ohio's tax-supported colleges and universities. The increase is here. It will continue to be with us in geometric proportion.

With more thousands of young men and women seeking enrollment in the colleges, there must be more buildings and facilities for them.

To solve the problem, State Issue No. 1 has been proposed. It would amend Ohio's constitution to authorize issuance of bonds up to $250 million, to be paid off by a continuation of the present cent-a-pack cigarette tax.

Of the $250 million, $210 million would go into education. The rest would go in smaller amounts for water conservation, state parks, recreation facilities and state buildings.

THE BULGE in college enrollment in Ohio should come as no surprise. It was predicted a dozen years ago by the state university people. The only place they went wrong was on the "under" side; the 1963 enrollment is slightly more than they had forecast.

In 1962, there were 200,000 students in Ohio's colleges. Ten years from now the enrollment is predicted at 360,000, with public higher education accommodating nearly 80 per cent of this increase.

The privately supported colleges are doing what they can. But their facilities are limited and they must place ceilings on their enrollment. Potentially good students among the high school graduates must spill over into the state colleges. They have no place else to go.

THE ONE objection to the state bond issue is the fact that a portion of the cigarette tax receipts must go to interest payments.

This prevents the bond issue beneficiaries from realizing 100 per cent of the revenue, and we wish the interest payments were not necessary.

Unless some new tax of sizable proportions were levied, however, there would be no way to raise $250 million during the time it will be needed.

The cent-a-pack cigarette tax is the only feasible answer at the moment. It will be a continuation of a present tax, at no additional cost to the taxpayers.

The News appeals for a "Yes" vote Nov. 5 on State Issue No. 1 proposal.

The Concert Series

Business officials searching for an industrial site look for more than a tract of ground when they visit a community new to them. They consider other merits and advantages, such as a good school system, churches and the cultural programs that are the heart of a progressive city.

Fortunately, Salem qualifies with many of these attributes and one of them is the Community Concerts which starts its 17th season here tomorrow with a program by the internationally-known Netherlands String Quartet. The Northern Columbiana County Community Concerts Association was begun here in 1947 and the public's response and the enthusiasm of the officers and directors of the organization have resulted in oversubscribed memberships year after year. This season alone the association's membership totals 945.

Few cities the size of Salem are able to bring in reknown artists to help brighten otherwise dull winter evenings.

No Vandalism!

Law enforcement officials take a dim view of vandalism at Halloween time or any season, for that matter.

Warnings have been issued by local police, the state highway patrol and deputy sheriffs, following some isolated cases of damage in recent days. Damage to newly-poured concrete on the W. State St. overpass Friday night may have been inspired by the season of the year, but authorities are firm with their warning that persons responsible for pranks resulting in destruction of property will be prosecuted.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

If you never thought about this before, think about it now — that some of the insane recklessness on highways is evidence of the death wish among the addled young of this era, and if they take you with them that's perfectly all right with them.

Periodically I get into the state of mind that Abraham Lincoln must have been in when he spoke of the "squirm and wriggle for public office." In my case, this always happens just before time to exercise the old franchise.

Because I disapprove of mixing up kids in the mismanaged affairs of their elders, my idea of handling a school boycott would be to mark the kids absent, with the usual requirements for making up all the work they miss. I would put no pressure on them to return to school because their parents would get sick of having them hang around the house anyway.

I am as distraught as anyone about the drought, but if we must put up with unusual weather I'd rather put up with drought than the ordeal by snow and freezing we went through last winter.

It seems odd to me that sports writers, always looking for new names to call outstanding athletes never have referred to the fullback of the Cleveland Browns as "Buster Brown." Or am I only revealing my age when I remember the name of a one-time comic strip character?

If I were promoting business for a supermarket I'd entice more men to go shopping with their wives, because on the occasions when I accompany my purchasing agent I buy things she never would buy, such as a new cap for outdoor weekends, a roll of mending tape to hide the hole in one knee of my green corduroy pants and a sackful of hardware gim-micks.

After a lifetime of seeing statistics used to prove whatever suits ax-grinders, I am prepared to state that I do not trust them farther than I could throw the people who run the computers that manufacture them out of the whole cloth.

I wish I could be sure the men who fly my government's airplanes into hurricanes at risk of their lives and my property are not doing it for a stunt, because that appears to me to be the only justification.

Everybody cheers and feels good when undue political influence is deplored in things like highway building, then proceeds to exercise all the undue influence they can muster, which is why public officials knuckle under to political pressure. Everybody exerts it, including those who say it's bad.

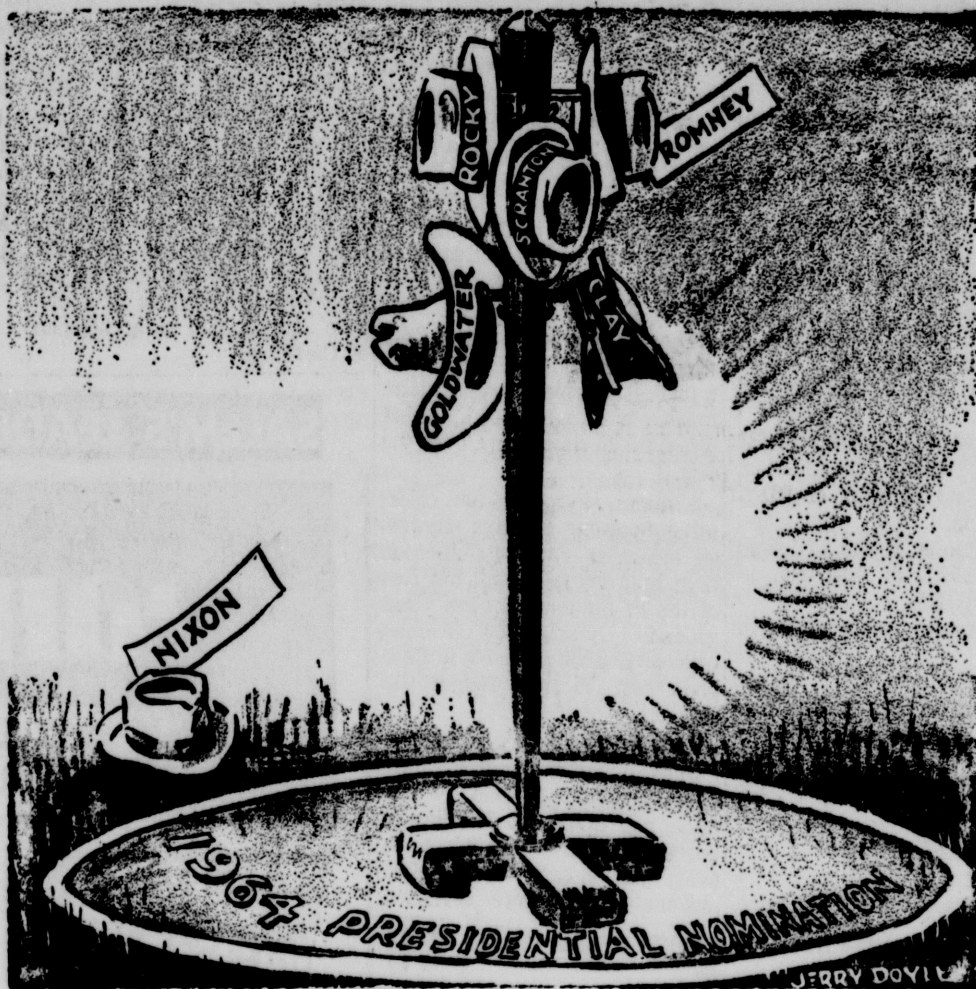

The new dog at our place, a German shepherd, squeaks when happy, instead of barking, and keeps this up to the point where other inmates of the kennel try to make words out of what he obviously is trying to say.

It occurs to me in connection with the advent of foul weather that I have had a few more tomatoes to eat this year than I wanted but have kept quiet about it because the last round came from a vine that came up by accident in a flower bed at the front of the house.

"I'd like you to meet the Joneses! When their children left, they didn't sell their house and move into an apartment!"

Nehru's Successor

By ARNOLD BEICHMAN

Highly placed sources in India are persuaded that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, who will be 74 years old Nov. 14, has decided on his successor—Mrs. Indira Nehru Gandhi, his handsome, middle-aged daughter.

According to unusually well-informed persons in India, should Nehru's tentative decision come to pass, its fundamental reason would be to insure that V. K. Krishna Menon's influence on the country's domestic and foreign affairs will not lapse when Nehru steps down from the office he has held for 16 years.

By arranging the transition during his own lifetime and by putting his daughter into his place, Nehru would be able to keep Menon the influential figure he still is even today as a private citizen.

This analysis well may be the key to understanding the Indian cabinet shakeup late in August when six ministers, three of whom might have been contenders for Nehru's mantle, were ousted. The three men — Morarji Oesai, Lak Bahadur Shastri and S. K. Patil, were regarded as conservatives and hostile to Nehru's professed socialist aims, particularly in land reform.

Nehru never has publicly indicated his choice of successor, although at one time it was taken for granted that he favored Menon above all others for reasons veiled in obscurity.

ONE THEORY among knowledgeable Indians is that Menon has persuaded the prime minister that only the Soviet Union can save India from Chinese aggression and that only Menon himself has the ear of Premier Khrushchev.

Whatever the reason for the relationship between the two men, which extends over four decades, Nehru today realizes, it is said, that Menon could never be accepted by the Congress party for any government post let alone that of prime minister.

For a few months after the Indian seizure of Portuguese Goa in 1962, Menon, then defense minister, enjoyed a rare event in his long career as an Indian statesman — national popularity. That euphoric need vanished overnight with Communist China's successful military invasion of India's Northwest and Northeast Provinces in October-November, 1962.

Revealed as naked fact was that India's armed forces were tragically unprepared for real combat. The bloody reverses suffered by the Indian army led to a deafening public outcry against Menon, who had been defense minister for five years.

On Nov. 1, 1962, he was demoted to a newly-created post — minister of defense production. But public clamor would not be still and so a week later, to loud cheers in the Congress Parliamentary party, Nehru announced Menon's dismissal from even this secondary post.

IN SOME WAYS, his apparent disappearance from public life may have been the best thing which ever happened to Menon. Instead of having to account for his ministerial acts to a hostile Parliament and public opinion, he has been able to maintain the same, if not closer relationship with Nehru.

For example, last July, Nehru approved an agreement permitting the Voice of America to install a powerful medium-wave transmitter in Calcutta to be shared by the U. S. and Indian governments.

Menon reportedly shot off an angry letter to Nehru accusing him of going back on India's non-alignment policy and followed it up with a face-to-face attack at Nehru's home on the morning of the scheduled cabinet meeting.

Thereafter, Nehru told his cabinet colleagues that he had misunderstood the implications of the VOA agreement, apologized for his error and announced the agreement's abrogation.

One of India's leading personalities and one who sees Nehru often enough to claim his friendship is the source of the report that relations between the Indian prime minister and Menon, whom the opposition has long regarded as a "crypto-Communist," have never been closer.

"Nehru is absolutely unreconciled," this informant has said, "to the fact that Menon is out of the cabinet. They meet every day and night at his home to discuss politics. Nehru listens to Menon just as he has for all these years."

For the two men to see each other frequently is as easy as crossing the street which is exactly what Menon needs. He still lives in the house assigned to him when he was defense minister. That house on Teen Murti Marg in New Delhi is diagonally across the road from the huge mans and compound where Nehru lives and which once was the residence of the British military commander-in-chief.

MRS. GANDHI, a 46-year-old widow and mother of two young boys, has been in politics from her early teens. Educated at Oxford's Somerville College, she joined her father in the struggle for independence from Britain and even served a 13-month jail sentence for her activities. A one-time president of the ruling All India National Congress, she has been active in virtually every phase of Indian public life and has acted as her widowed father's official hostess.

The relationship between the chic, ever well-groomed Mrs. Gandhi (her late husband was an Indian journalist and Parliamentarian, but unrelated to the Mahatma) and Krishna Menon, now 66, is of longstanding. She and her future husband came under Menon's influence when they were in England. Upon their return to India in the late '30's, she joined the all-India Students Congress with its national and socialist orientation.

Some Indians say that Krishna Menon is Mrs. Gandhi's "Guru" or teacher; less euphemistic is a characterization by others who say he is Mrs. Gandhi's Rasputin.

PUBLICLY Mrs. Gandhi has defended Krishna Menon from attack. On Nov. 8, 1961, she spoke before the Women's National Press Club in Washington. Asked to "explain" Mr. Menon, she said three things:

1. "I don't think he could explain himself."

2. "Of one thing I am sure: he is not a Communist. Sometimes the things he says can be used that way, but that does not make him a Communist."

3. He has "a very fine mind, and one which India needs."

The overriding question in India is whether Mr. Nehru, for all his vast prestige, will be able to persuade or impose his selection of a successor, particularly his own daughter. Much of what is reported here comes from men in his own government and party who have said privately that should Mrs. Gandhi replace her father it would make Menon "de facto" prime minister. One thing is fairly certain — an attempt to install Mrs. Gandhi would split the country and the Congress party.

What is being asked in India today is whether Nehru will risk such a step at a critical moment in the country's history.

Labor And JFK

By VICTOR RIESEL

Influential and traditionally well-informed national labor leaders now are convinced that it positively will be Barry Goldwater against their candidate, John Kennedy, in '64.

These are the same union chiefs whose political imagination, money, manpower and maneuvering swung the balance of power to Mr. Kennedy in the primaries, the nomination battle and the election of 1960.

They are sophisticated fighters. In preparing to do battle for Mr. Kennedy again, they decided first to anticipate the Republican they would have to do battle against.

Their own private polls have, in the last few weeks, indicated that Sen. Goldwater has what one of the top policy-making labor leaders called an "insurmountable bloc of Republican convention delegates, though not yet a majority."

They reckon that only some dramatic reversal can keep the nomination from the senator. Should this happen, they believe it will go to Dick Nixon. In either case, they are ready for a tough campaign.

THEY KNOW that the President has been concerned over grumbling and disaffection inside labor.

The President also is aware of the feuds among the union chiefs which might split the Democratic labor front.

To prevent this, he has been counting heavily on the strength of AFL-CIO President George Meany — compared with whom the Rock of Gibraltar is a pebble in the path of Hurricane Ginny.

Never has a President been closer to a labor leader than John Kennedy is to George Meany. They talk several times a week. For the past 18 to 20 months, the President has cleared all labor matters with Meany. The union leader frequently visits the White House for private talks.

Typical is what developed on Monday, Sept. 23. Meany was looking forward to lunching with his British counterpart, George Woodcock, leader of the nine million member Trade Unions Congress. Mr. Woodcock was here on his way to Mexico.

Not long before Meany was scheduled to leave here for his appointment with Mr. Woodcock, who had just flown in from London, the White House called. THE PRESIDENT wanted to confer with Meany on some legislative matters. Some congressmen needed a little pressing. Meany crossed the square to the White House. He missed his opportunity to see Woodcock, a powerful figure in the world labor movement and one of those who will help make British policy.

It's frequently thus. There is no doubt of Meany's devotion to Jack Kennedy — or of the national labor chief's ability to hold the leaders of the 13 million-member AFL-CIO in line for the President despite current undertones of anger with the White House on several scores.

One case of White House jitters springs from the famed feud between Meany and Walter Reuther. The attack of political nerves is provoked by the realization that a split labor movement could not campaign efficiently next year. But it now appears that the two leaders will cold storage the Hatfield-McCoy stuff for the duration.

Neither wants to rock Mr. Kennedy's boat.

REUTHER WILL NOT be idle, even if he does not joust with Meany. The auto union leader is active globally.

His union has a special international fund which comes from the interest of the United Auto Workers' $59 million strike fund. This interest comes to almost $2 million. It enables Reuther to develop educational and organizational projects across the world.

He is especially interested in the new and underdeveloped lands. A few months ago, for example, he hired a Latin American specialist for work on the southern continent and in Central America and the Caribbean.

He has been active in Italy, Japan and even India. His brother, Victor, keeps this network operating. Sometimes the work is in the form of donations. Sometimes, in establishing research centers. Sometimes, in aiding such organizations as the International Metalworkers' Federation — made up of steelworkers, autoworkers' and machinists' unions throughout the world.

And through his brother Roy, he will have a hand in Democratic campaign. Roy Reuther is high in the Democratic-labor coalition braintrust, in registration activities and in actual campaign machinery.

So it appears there will be little family bickering inside the House of Labor. It's right across the square from the White House. Reuther and Meany and the other union chiefs are happy with their present neighbor. They don't want a new one in 1965.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school junior who lives in a small town in Nebraska. All my life I have heard that country kids are dumb and city kids are smart. The expressions "small town rub" and "hick from the sticks" illustrate the point.

Well, a few weeks ago I went to New York with my family to attend my grandfather's funeral. For the first time I got to know my New York and New Jersey cousins. These kids are about my age and they have lived in big cities all their lives.

One of the girls did not know that milk comes from cows. She said she always thought milk was manufactured.

When I told her I used to milk cows when we lived on the farm she said, "I once heard something about that but I couldn't figure out how a cow could sit on those little bottles."

Please, Ann Landers, print this letter for all the small town kids who think their city cousins know so much more than they do. Since that trip I'm feeling a whole lot smarter.—NEBRASKA BRAIN.

Dear Brain: Someone very wise once said, "We're ALL ignorant — on different subjects."

I'd hate to tell you how old I was before I learned that a hen could lay eggs without the help of a rooster. And I was born and reared in Iowa!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail!

American women are lagging farther behind in higher education. They outnumber the male sex in high school, but not in college. Women now earn only one in three bachelors' and masters' degrees, and only one in ten doctorates.

Worse yet are these figures: Four million adult U.S. women have had less than five years of schooling and 11½ million started but failed to finish high school.

We've just discovered that National Macaroni Week is over

Ever wonder what the difference is between a wiener and a frankfurter? It's a matter of size, butchers say. Franks are usually about an inch thick and four inches long; wieners are about ¼ inch thinner and 5½ inches or more long.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions, Answers

Q—My doctor has prescribed Cafegot for my migraine headaches. If I take the drug as soon as the blurred vision starts, it seems to prevent vomiting. What are the side effects of this drug?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—The tablets you are taking are a combination of caffeine and ergotamine. This is an excellent remedy for migraine if you keep it handy and take it early in an attack. Such occasional use would not be likely to cause any side effects, but this drug should not be used by those who are pregnant or who have high blood pressure, coronary heart disease, or a disease of the blood vessels, liver or kidneys.

Q—I am 45. Lately I have noticed blood spots in the skin all over my body. What causes them and what should I do?

A—Blood spots such as you have may be due to many causes. If they itch they could be due to the bites of fleas, chiggers or other insects. A great variety of drugs including headache pills are often to blame. Purpura, a deficiency of vitamin C and some forms of anemia may be the cause. Have your doctor determine the cause and the question of what to do should be easy.

Q—I am a woman, age 47. My doctor says the skin trouble I've had for the last two years is parapsoriasis. What causes it and what can be done for it?

A—You have a disease that is very hard to cure. The silver lining on the cloud is that the lesions are usually painless and they will not affect your general health. The cause is unknown.

Q—What causes a coated tongue that makes my mouth taste sour when I get up in the morning?

A—If your tongue is coated, you haven't been eating enough solid food such as unpeeled raw apples, raw carrots and hard toast. Doctors no longer look at the tongue routinely to determine what kind of a diagnosis to make. For the unpleasant taste in your mouth, try brushing your teeth on arising. Brush your tongue, too, if you can do it without gagging. You might also try a mouthwash.

Q—Would drinking beer help to cure ulcers or a nervous stomach? I'm not sure which I have, but I think it may be ulcers.

A—Your first step should be to have your doctor determine the cause of any distress you may have in the stomach region. Guesswork never pays. If you have an ulcer, you should definitely lay off alcoholic drinks. If you have a nervous stomach, have your doctor treat the nervousness and the stomach will take care of itself. There are, however, many other causes for uneasiness below the ribs.

Q—My son is nearsighted and has to have an eye examination every year. Is there any danger that the drops used to dilate his pupils will cause cataract?

A—No.

RAIN, BUT NO ENOUGH

CLEVELAND (AP)—A mere .19 of an inch of rain that fell at the Cleveland Hopkins Airport weather station Sunday was the first measurable precipitation in Cleveland since Sept. 29. Cincinnati and Zanesville also reported slight amounts of rain, but not enough to ease drought conditions.

Mrs. Ivan L. Sugg

Fletcher-Sugg Vows Are Heard In Niles

Vows were exchanged by Miss Patricia Lynn Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Fletcher of Niles, former Greenford residents, and Ivan L. Sugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sugg of Deshler, O., Oct. 9 in the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Niles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and net over satin with tiers of lace and net forming the full flared floor length skirt. A crown of pearls and sequins held her fingertip length veil and she carried a cascade arrangement of carnations and stephanotis.

Jude Ann Fletcher was maid of honor for her sister. Attendants were Mrs. Robert Hilliard of Niles and Beverly Jeanne Hinderleiter of Washingtonville. All wore royal blue ballerina length gowns with matching feathered headpieces.

Mr. Sugg chose his brother, Raymond, to serve as best man and Paul E. Fletcher, brother of the bride, and Charles Folman ushered.

Both mothers of the bridal pair wore teal blue gowns complemented with corsages of white carnations.

One hundred guests attended the reception in the McKinley Heights fire hall following the ceremony. Mrs. Raymond Sugg was in charge of the guest book.

A blue and white theme prevailed at the bride's table where a four tier cake nestled in a bed of ivy greenery. White candles in milk glass holders lighted the scene.

The bride attended Niles McKinley High School and Mr. Sugg is a graduate of Jackson High School and is self-employed.

A blue and white knit suit was worn by the bride for her honeymoon to Niagara Falls. They are residing at RD 1, Deshler.

Psychiatrist To Address County Group

Dr. Kekabs Knezinskis, psychiatrist and director of the new Columbiana County Mental Health Clinic, is expected to discuss operation of the clinic when the Columbiana County Mental Association Inc. holds its annual dinner meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

Dr. Knezinskis, 56, has been a psychiatrist at Woodside Receiving Hospital in Youngstown since April. He is expected to work closely with Woodside Hospital which also serves Columbiana County residents.

A native of Latvia, Dr. Knezinskis graduated from medical school there in 1934. As World War II ended, he moved to Germany to avoid the communists. He worked as a surgeon in the U. S. Army and International Refugee Organization hospitals before moving to the United States in 1949.

Dr. Knezinskis spent three years residency in the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha and has worked as a psychiatrist in Nebraska, Kentucky and Massachusetts hospitals. He is a member of the American Psychiatric Association. His wife, Zenta, is a laboratory technician.

"Walk-ins" and referrals from doctors and agencies are expected to constitute the bulk of the clinic's cases when it is opened officially in the former Perry Rigby property, 319 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon.

Mrs. R. Brent Thompson

Hippley-Thompson Vows Are Exchanged Sunday

St. Jacob's United Church of Christ was the locale of the 2:30 p.m. wedding Sunday uniting in marriage Miss Jacqueline Lee Hippley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Curtis Hippley of RD 4, Lisbon, and R. Brent Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dale Thompson of MC 1, Salem.

Rev. William Ring officiated at the double ring service before an altar banked with palms, decorated with vases of white flowers and lighted with cathedral candelabras. Mrs. William Pannier was soloist and Mrs. Edward Mitchell presided at the console.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a floor length white silk gown trimmed in lace at the midriff and wrists of the long sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt flowed to a chapel length train and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and pompons. Her elbow length veil of illusion was held by a jeweled crown.

Miss Barbara Allison was maid of honor and wore a dress of beige and gold taffeta with bell-shaped skirt and cap sleeves. Attendants were Miss Linda Calvin and Mrs. Duane Bricker. They wore dresses identical to that of Miss Allison's and all carried baskets of chrysanthemums.

Mr. Thompson chose John Bartholow to be his best man and John Strain and Deane Hippley, brother of the bride, to usher.

Mrs. Hippley wore a beige and brown brocade sheath with jacket for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Thompson's dress was a jacketed sheath of green wool. Both complemented their costumes with corsages of pompons.

Miss Sherry Hixenbaugh registered the 200 guests who attended the reception in the church Fellowship Hall following the reception. A four tier cake with miniature bridal figurines on top was the focal point of the bride's table. A graduate of Leetonia High School, the bride has been employed as bookkeeper by the Farmers National Bank.

Mr. Thompson is a graduate of Alfred State School of Technology at New York, and is employed by the Presco Products Co. at Bedford. They will make their home at Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Thompson were hosts at the rehearsal dinner Saturday evening at which time gifts were presented their attendants by the bridal couple.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: My husband wears starched uniforms to work. I have to wash and iron six each week . . .

Please tell me what I can do about the mud, rain and soil stains on the legs of his trousers. When it rains these stains sometimes go as high as the knee when he gets in and out of his truck.

WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Try using plain, old BOILED starch.

After taking the garment from the washing machine and while the garment is still thoroughly wet . . . dip the pants into warm boiled starch up to the knee (you can go further if you want to), then proceed as usual.

When these mud and dirt stains get on the trousers thereafter they will stick to the starch and not work themselves into the fibers of the fabric.

Next time you wash the trousers . . . when you wash the starch out the dirt will also leave. The starch acts as an absorbent.

HELOISE.

Dear Heloise: Here's a helpful hint that I think cat owners will love, especially if they keep a sand box.

Instead of using a cardboard box filled with sand, buy a plastic dishpan. It works much better. The bottom will not fall out when you empty and refill it. It's cleaner, can be washed and re-used. Also, it looks much nicer in your home, and it's far more sanitary.

MRS. LYNN LACKEY.

NOTICE: Ladies, I would like to caution you not to use cleaning fluids on upholstery fabrics if you have foam rubber cushions. Sometimes it deteriorates the rubber inside the cushions. We have had many complaints on this.

HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER?
DEAR HELOISE: If you are afraid of duplicating gifts to a new baby . . . Why not present it with a bawbaak made out in its own name?

MRS. WILLIAM SPLINTER.
DEAR HELOISE: For those who send little children to school with peanut butter sandwiches:

Try keeping a loaf of bread in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Remove the few slices you need each morning and spread the peanut butter on the frozen bread.

The bread never tears, never squashes, and the peanut butter spread easily. By the time the kids get ready to eat lunch the sandwiches look as if they were professionally made.

MOTHER OF 10 KIDS.

Bless you, Mommy! And all 10 siblings. Frozen bread is fabulous for this. Try it.
HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Snap clothespins are very good to give school children to carry in their coat pockets so they can fasten their mittens, rubber overshoes, etc., together.

There is room on the clothes to write the name of your child, the teacher and the room number for easy identification in case they are lost. I use large wooden spring-type clothespins for this.

If a pair of gloves is lost . . . they can easily be identified and returned to their proper owners.

MRS. H. EATON

DEAR HELOISE: A TV tray (on legs) is a great help when placed near the sewing machine to keep your scissors, extra bobbins, thread and material nearby.

Tape the instruction sheet from your pattern to the edge of the TV tray, so step by step instructions may be followed without getting up from the sewing machine!

divisions here as long as there is need for them and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed."

Rusk also diplomatically told the Europeans he didn't think they were living up to their military commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"It is a source of pride that the United States has generally met or exceeded its goals, and a source of regret that certain others in the alliance have not," he said.

Erhard, who recently succeeded Konrad Adenauer as chancellor, indicated he agreed with the U.S. position and called on his countrymen and Europeans generally to remember the debt they owe to the United States.

Rusk also said the most effective way of meeting any Soviet threat was a NATO nuclear fleet. The plan was first put forth by President Kennedy in a meeting with former British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Nassau in the Bahamas in December. It calls for a fleet of surface ships, manned by crews of mixed nationality and equipped with U.S. missiles.

Britain has been cool to the plan and France has rejected it. De Gaulle wants his own nuclear striking force.

Board of Education Will Meet Tonight

The approval of the new appropriation for the Trades & Industries Program and the formal appointment of T & I teachers, already instructing, will be the main business to be considered by the Salem Board of Education at the monthly meeting tonight at 7:30.

The possibility of changes in the track at Reilly Stadium and the inclusion of string instruments in the music program are to be discussed. Athletic director Fred Cope and music supervisor Howard Pardee are expected to be present for these discussions.

The board will meet in the library in the Junior High School.

flight programs, said the American moon effort should continue independent of any action Russia might take.

President Kennedy in 1961 set as a national goal the landing of a man on the moon in this decade, hopefully before the Russians do. The cost has been estimated at $20 billion or more.

Getting Congress to see things his way has not been easy.

The administration asked $5.7 billion for NASA this fiscal year, most of the money to go into the manned spaceflight program. Congress authorized $5.35 billion.

Now that the time has come to appropriate funds, the House has voted $5.1 billion—a figure NASA officials say is too low—and the Senate Appropriations Committee has yet to be heard from.

Noting that such diverse leaders as Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower have questioned the wisdom of moon spending on the scale now projected, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said he expected congressional advocates of reduced spending to step up their arguments on the basis of Khrushchev's remarks.

The Illinoisan added that the space committees of both chambers should re-examine the U.S. program in the light of the Soviet provision.

Paul E. Smith, superintendent of Salem schools, will be topic manager of a discussion session on "Educational Programming for Tomorrow's Man and Power Needs" Nov. 13 at the 8th annual joint convention of Ohio school board members, superintendents and clerk-treasurers.

How a quality education program can bolster Ohio's economic growth will be the central issue of the convention Nov. 12-14 at Columbus.

Either Atty. Bryce Kendall or Robert Campbell or both are expected to attend as delegates representing the local board of education. Business manager Arthur Furey will also attend.

ished plans. We propose to give planning all the importance it merits and we will present our plans in proper form and due course.

Q—Do you feel that there is a great lack of understanding in the United States as regards oil contracts? What immediate measures do you suggest to solve the oil problem?

A—We will follow our oil policy as we have said before the election, during the election and afterwards. The contracts not in agreement with the policy will be annulled, but in accordance with our law and constitution. There will be indemnification. We will not take violent measures against anyone. The government will act in accordance with legal standards.

Q—Under its new oil policy, does the government wish or not wish to have cooperation of oil companies of the United States and other countries in the development of its oil fields? A—There is not a new policy for oil. It is the permanent policy that Argentina has always had. Since 1904 when oil was discovered, YPF (the state oil monopoly) has always been the agency handling these problems.

We have no difficulty, and we shall have none, in making contracts with any world enterprise which cares to aid us in work and services and which YPF, the state agency, considers proper.

Q—When the Argentina government has no intention of throwing out the foreign oil companies, but only intends to annul those contracts which it considers are contrary to its oil policy?

A—Exactly. Q—This question refers to a matter of current interest in the United States: Do you consider communism to be a serious problem in Argentina and in America in general?

A—I can tell you with absolute certainty that communism is no problem in Argentina—nor will it be one. The belief must be accepted in the United States that our people have a thorough vocation for democracy...and we—respectful of our fellow nations in America—will help in every way possible to prevent communism from taking over any other nation. This is perhaps the foremost point where our thoughts agree with those of the people and the government of the United States.

Q—Do you plan to increase the working man's share of national income so as to bring it up to the level of the middle class and cause it to be more aware of its obligations?

Q—Fundamentally, our problem is the following. During the past 30 years, our national income per capita has decreased. This means our population has increased, but our national income has decreased. Our objective is to keep increasing the national income with the purpose of distributing it more equitably to strengthen the working class.

whether they can join in it.

The bill Kennedy objects to is a 10-part omnibus measure a judiciary subcommittee superimposed on the administration's original seven-part package.

It strengthens all the administration proposals and includes a section authorizing powers for the attorney general that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has called "dangerous."

The administration's efforts have been devoted to inducing Democrats and Republicans on the committee to support a bill patterned more closely on its original package.

Despite partition of British India into today's India and Pakistan, both countries are on the 1963 list. Indonesia (formerly Netherlands East Indies) has moved up. Brazil has become the first Latin American nation to make the "Big Ten."

Of the 220 babies born every minute the world over, more than half—140 a minute—arrive in Asia, as map, bottom, indicates.

The population of the world was estimated at 3,180,000,000 in mid-1963—an increase of 500 million since 1950, equal to the entire population of the world in 1650. At present growth rate, there would be 18 billion people on earth within a century. (Data from the Population Reference Bureau).

Industry Setting Up Plants Close to Regional Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — A new concept of plant location—regionalization—has taken hold in American industry.

Early this century industry was primarily concentrated in the urban areas, especially in

Do your kidneys give you trouble at night? Do you have to get up 2 or 3 times? I think we can help you. Ask about Liquid Dulcetic.

FLODING & REYNARD DRUG
Salem, Ohio

the northeastern section of the country.

A move to the suburbs, which began just before World War II to achieve straight-line production and expansion, was accelerated in the 1940s by decentralization of defense industries.

Now industry is setting up production units close to regional markets instead of shipping manufactured goods to consumers from plants traditionally located near sources of supply.

Leonard Yascen, senior partner of Fantus Co., international plant location consultants, says the emphasis has been placed on markets rather than raw materials.

"Changes in market patterns across the country are forcing manufacturers to serve population concentrations from new facilities geared to the needs of each specific region," he says. Here are some examples:

The Hershey Chocolate Co., which has always manufactured its products in Hershey, Pa., is breaking ground for a plant 3,000 miles west in Oakland, Calif.

Hershey was faced with high transportation costs in reaching the important western market. A few months ago, Owens-Illinois Glass Co., which had operated out of plants in Ohio and Oklahoma, opened new glass-making facilities in North Bergen, N.J., and Atlanta, Ga. Its natural gas and glass sand sources are mainly in Ohio and Oklahoma.

The American Can Co. of New York has constructed a plastics container manufacturing unit at Shelbyville, Tenn., and the A.H. Wirtz Co. of Chester, Pa., manufacturer of toothpaste tubes, erected a plant at Carrollton, Ky.

Otis Elevator, Inc., is opening a plant in Bloomington, Ill., and Mattel, Inc., a California-based toy manufacturer, has opened a plant in Keyport, N.J.

Yaseen says the trend to regionalization must be sound when the nation's largest industry—automobiles—now has assembly plants in every major U.S. region. Breweries, he says, also point up the trend with almost every major beer company establishing regional facilities.

Yaseen adds that almost every new industrial job created in the Eastern Central states is now counterbalanced by the hiring of another production worker in the West or South.

It was a national hook-up when the Missouri couple married on television.

No wonder I'm thrilled with my new GAS Range

It's beautiful and completely automatic even to that amazing Burner-with-a-Brain

Yes, nothing can equal my new Gas Range for the way it looks and the way it cooks. I love the handsome, modern styling that fits into any decorative scheme I choose.

And the way it cooks! I can be busy in another part of the house or even shopping at the supermarket. The Gas Range takes over. Turns itself on to the temperature I want and cooks the roast to rare perfection. If I'm delayed getting home, the Keep-Warm Oven turns itself down and keeps the roast rare for hours.

The Burner-with-a-Brain watches food automatically. No worry about vegetables scorching or messy boilovers.

Smokeless broiling is my assurance of a clean, cool kitchen. And nothing equals Gas to give chops and steaks that wonderful flame-kissed flavor.

The Gas Rotisserie is great for big roasts, poultry and hams. Operates automatically, too.

All of these modern features, available only in Gas Ranges, add up to better meals and more time to enjoy the family. Why not see for yourself... at your Gas Appliance Dealer's soon. Why not stop in tomorrow?

Express Desire for Individuality

Today's Home Purchaser More Selective of Design

Custom styling, a popular feature once restricted to higher priced homes, is now being applied to small houses as families show an increasing desire for individuality. As a result, the small "stereotyped" homes of many suburbs are becoming a thing of the past.

"Individual styling in the small home was very limited during the post war rush to produce living accommodation," relates Ralph Sherwin, chief designer of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. "The homes were adequate, but repeated use of a few available floor plans resulted in rows of houses with the same general appearance."

"BUYERS WERE conscious of this repetition, but the scramble for housing compelled them to forego many personal styling preferences and accept homes which often were not exactly what they wanted. But today's shopper is not so restricted. With more accommodation available, he is looking around for the particular home which both meets his family's needs and pleases him design-wise," Mr. Sherwin continued.

New building techniques which permit home designs to be varied while staying within similar space and cost requirements, have been developed as a result of this trend to customizing.

In place of concentrating on just one or two fixed types, Mr. Sherwin pointed out that builders and prefabricators now use floor plans which, within certain limitations, can be altered to please the buyer.

"In this way it is possible to arrive at many different designs having the same floor area yet priced in the small home bracket," he said.

FURTHER VARIATION is being gained by using a wider variety of roofing and siding materials and construction components such as panel windows, which speed up building time and blend readily into homes of any style or shape.

By standardizing window sizes with a panel system, it is a simple matter to tailor the windows to follow the flexibility of the house, thus gaining the homeowner complete freedom of choice in planning the window areas in different rooms, Mr. Sherwin added.

The basic panel window units may be used individually or in combinations making up an entire wall, depending on the requirements of the room it is to serve. Screened ventilator sash can easily be set in any of the openings.

USING STANDARD SIZES of Thermopane insulating glass, a simple system of panels can be quickly erected throughout the house, saving time and labor while adding year-round window insulation at economies impossible to attain where a variety of glass sizes are used. When remodeling or adding to older homes, the panel window system simplifies conversion of carports, breezeways and garages into extra rooms.

In bedrooms, "shoulder high" panels provide light and ventilation but are sufficiently high to allow complete wall space for beds, chests or vanities. For living and family rooms, the popular 3 wide-3 high grouping gives modern window wall styling. The space of dry air sealed in the Thermopane unit virtually eliminates the cold zone around the windows, increasing usable living space in a small home.

"Such a combination gives a wonderful view, abundant natural daylight and a feeling of bigness to a small house while allowing a wide scope for custom placement of the glass areas, Mr. Sherwin concluded.

Leaky Water Pipe Time for Fast Action, But Not Panic

A leaky water pipe means time for fast action, but not panic.

First thing to do is to turn off the water. There may be a valve for that line alone. If not, turn off the main water supply.

With the pressure off, you have time for an emergency repair.

Best method, and one that will last indefinitely, is the use of a special pipe clamp made for just this purpose. The pipe clamp consists of two metal halves that fit around the pipe. The inside of the metal is lined with rubber. Nuts and bolts draw the clamp tight once it is in place.

IF YOU DON'T HAVE a pipe clamp on hand and the time isn't appropriate to run to the hardware store for one (these things always happen at night or on Sundays and holidays), then look around the house for materials with which you can improvise.

An old piece of garden hose is an excellent substitute. Split it and place it around the pipe. This can be held in place with a hose clamp. You may need the size used for radiator hose. If you lack a clamp, use wire twisted tightly around the patch.

A generous use of friction tape is another method. But since the tape is porous, use some other patching material with it. A piece of rubber cut from an old inner tube or other rubber item is best used by placing it directly over the break. Then wind tape or string around this patch very tightly. Wrap plenty of tape around the area.

LACKING A PIECE OF rubber, just use plenty of tape in many layers going in both directions.

Remember, that though this sort of patch may not be completely waterproof, it will stop the spray until you can make a permanent repair.

A leak that occurs near a joint may indicate that the joint needs repair. Threaded fittings must be taken apart and coated with pipe compound before being put back together. A solder joint will have to be taken apart and cleaned of all the old solder.

A bad spot in a run of copper pipe is cut out and rejoined with a copper sleeve that fits over both ends.

If the pipe is your house is steel or galvanized iron, cutting out the bad part and joining the parts together will require threading the ends and joining them with a union. If you can remove both pieces of pipe you can take it to a hardware store to be threaded.

Unless you're an expert, it's best to call in a plumber to make those permanent repairs.

Check Heating System Now Or You May Wind Up In Cold

An autumn home check-up in preparation for the winter heating season should include inspection, repair, and if necessary installation of a humidification system.

Excessive dryness can damage the house, cause discomfort, even illness, and at the same time waste fuel. Aside from the loss of fuel, the destructive qualities of lack of humidity are just as bad in areas where artificial heating is not necessary but where the air is too dry much of the year.

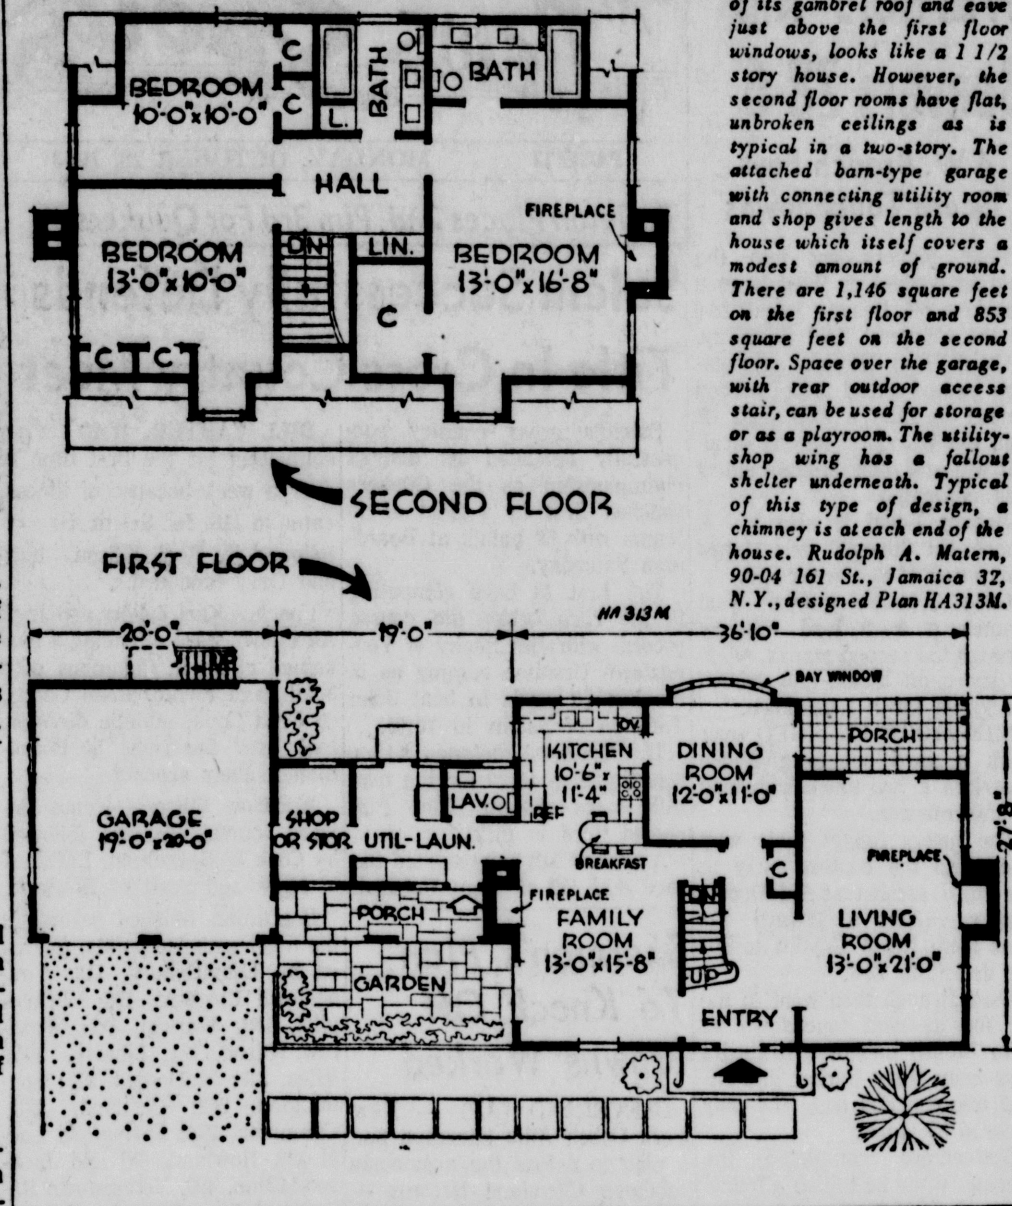

The relative humidity in heated unhumidified homes averages between 10 and 15 per cent in the winter. And in many homes, the relative humidity drops as low as 3 per cent when the inside temperature is 70 degrees Fahrenheit and the outside temperature hits zero. When one shivers in the house, puts on a sweater and pushes up the thermostat, the real need may be higher humidity and not higher temperature.

WITH THE PROPER HUMIDITY, one can be comfortable at temperatures three to eight degrees lower than the reading required for a relative humidity of 10 to 15 per cent.

Excessive dryness can cause veneers on furniture to peel. Moldings shrink. Paintings tend to dry out and crack. Fine leather bookbindings crack and the pages become brittle. Leather furniture dries out. Rugs and carpeting create static. Their fibers become brittle, break loose and wear life is shortened. Wallpaper loosens or puckers. Floor boards separate and annoying creaks result.

A VARIETY OF minor household troubles also occur: house

DUTCH COLONIAL, because of its gambrel roof and eave just above the first floor windows, looks like a 1 1/2 story house. However, the second floor rooms have flat, unbroken ceilings as is typical in a two-story. The attached barn-type garage with connecting utility room and shop gives length to the house which itself covers a modest amount of ground. There are 1,146 square feet on the first floor and 853 square feet on the second floor. Space over the garage, with rear outdoor access stair, can be used for storage or as a playroom. The utility-shop wing has a fallout shelter underneath. Typical of this type of design, a chimney is at each end of the house. Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica 32, N.Y., designed Plan HA313M.

plants wilt and the piano goes out of tune.

More serious is the effect of excessive dryness upon human health. The head of the ear, nose and throat section of New York's Lincoln Hospital, Dr. Joseph Lubard, says there is a definite correlation between colds and humidity.

"It is significant," says Dr. Lubard, "that coincidental with the institution of furnace heat in the fall, individuals, especially children, become subject to repeated attacks of the usual seasonal upper respiratory infections. Examination of the nose and throat of these patients will show the characteristic dry spots, incriminating evidence against the low humidity. The irritations of the nose and throat will usually persist until the air in the living quarters, especially the bedroom, is properly humidified."

LACK OF MOISTURE in the air also has an unpleasant cosmetic effect. Overheated dry air evaporates the natural moisture from the skin, causing rough, chapped skin and lifeless dry hair.

Relative humidity (the amount of moisture in the air to what the air could hold if completely saturated) should be related to outdoor temperature. An authority on the subject, James H. Manecke, says that, for example, when the outdoor temperature is 10 degrees, the relative humidity inside the home should be 30; when the temperature is 20, the humidity should be 35. As the executive of a company that manufactures automatic controls, he naturally believes that the best way to make home humidifiers work properly is to equip them with such controls, which automatically turn the moisture on or off according to the relative humidity setting. He adds that, for the best performance, the humidity control should be mounted on the inside wall, not in the direct path of furnace discharge air or drafts from open doors or windows.

The Cid is a name given in song and story to a great hero of Spain. His real name was Rodrigo, or Ruy Diaz.

Periodic Care Will Prevent Window Operation Troubles

There is no such thing as a maintenance-free window. Some may be less trouble than others but there comes a time when they all need care.

Even modern steel and aluminum casements need looking after, although the treatment is quite different from that given wooden ones.

Both should be lubricated for ease of operation. Use a grease stick to lubricate the slides of a wooden sash if the surface is painted or varnished. Use paraffin on untreated surface. Lubricate before windows begin to stick.

MOVING PARTS ON metal windows should be oiled frequently. Use oil on operating hardware, hinges and catches.

With wooden windows, painting is generally done at the time the house's exterior is painted. Interior surfaces may go for years without being refinished.

The same rules apply for windows as any other wooden surfaces: Sand or scrape away loose or blistered paint. In other words, paint over only sound surfaces. Do a little extra sanding at the bottom of the sash so that it will close easily. If paint hardens between sash and frame, gently work loose with a putty knife.

Metal windows seldom need painting, but you may want to paint aluminum windows after care with the operation of the window.

SINCE A BLOWTORCH would damage the glass, use chemical paint and varnish removers and wash clean with alcohol. Use a primer coat of rust-preventive paint. Sand and finish with exterior grade enamel or house trim paint.

Replacing a glass pane in either wood or metal frames is almost the same. In wooden sashes use glazier's points to hold the glass. With metal sashes special wire clips are used instead. Make a bead of putty and place it around the sash first. Then press the glass in place, insert the glazier's points or clips and finish with more putty between glass and outer edge of sash.

HONEY, We're In Luck!

Sue and I were just discussing the coming winter and how we dreaded to see it come after all our heating trouble last year. And, just like that, she said, "Be smart this year, buy Texaco Fuel from Cross Oil." Then she went on to explain that they'll give our furnace a thorough cleaning, and service the burner free all year long. Can you imagine! Then she told me about Alice and Bill running out of fuel one night about 10:30 p.m. when it was close to 20 degrees below and how fast the fuel truck arrived to re-fuel their tank. I guess they've thanked their lucky star a thousand times for Cross's Guaranteed Heating. No dear, they don't charge one cent extra. Call them? ... I already did!

Metzgar Tallies 3 Touchdowns

By CAROL CROFT
An aggressive United High School offensive unit displayed fine running in powerful thrusts to overwhelm a visiting team from Southern Local, 46-0, before an enthusiastic shirt-sleeve crowd Saturday.

The Golden Eagles punched through to a score on the third play of the contest - a 73-yard sprint by halfback Gene Metzgar - and continued to dominate the action throughout the remainder of the game, despite losing 85 yards on penalties.

Metzgar came through with two more tallies to lead the scoring for Coach Al Carrino's charges. Quarterback Bill McGranahan was also prominent in the attack as he threw a 30-yard scoring pass to end Homer Sturgeon, returned a punt 50 yards for another tally and figured in four two-point conversions.

The Eagles picked up a total of 265 yards, 226 of these coming on rushes, and held the Indians to a total of 75 yards, rushing and passing. United had six first downs to Southern's three and was forced into punt situations only twice compared with the visitors' seven.

PENALTIES KEPT United from doing possible further damage as the hosts had 10 infractions called against them. A sizable number of these were called for offside or illegal procedure, pointing to a possible lack of timing.

Coach Louis Higgenbotham's squad was unable to sustain any kind of offensive attack, garnering only three first downs, of which two came in the last period.

First touchdown of the contest occurred after United had picked up a first down on its own 27 when Southern was penalized for offside. Metzgar, a junior, then set forth on his first run. The run attempt for extra points was not successful.

The Eagles added six points at the end of the initial period after Southern was forced to punt. Metzgar took the pigskin at the visitors' 40 and raced 32 yards before being dumped at the eight. Halfback Martin Briceland hit pay dirt on the first play from scrimmage on a run. A pass conversion from McGranahan to Metzgar made the score 14-0.

SOUTHERN MANAGED only one play before the period ended.

Sturgeon, a junior, scored on a 30-yard pass from McGranahan midway in the second quarter after United had taken possession on its own 48 following a punt. Figuring in the surge was a 24-yard run by Metzgar which placed the ball on the Southern 20.

Two illegal procedure penalties delayed the drive before McGranahan hit Sturgeon in the end zone. The senior quarterback passed to end Dick Farmer for the extra two.

With 40 seconds remaining in the half, the Indians were forced to punt. Metzgar took the ball at midfield and raced for the tally. McGranahan ran the second conversion attempt after the first try was called back for illegal procedure on United. Halftime score was 30-0.

THE HOSTS CULMINATED their first drive of the third period with a one-yard scoring run by Metzgar. After junior tackle Randy Engle blocked a Southern punt on the visitors' 29, the Eagles marched to the goal line in 10 plays, garnering two first downs in the process. A McGranahan - to - Farmer pass was good for the conversion.

The Indians were forced to punt again in the last period. This time, McGranahan took the pigskin at midfield and romped for the score. An Aaron Arter-to-Bill Syx pass put the final two points on the scoreboard.

Southern's last attempt to initiate a drive was thwarted when Jim Allen intercepted a pass on the 50. United lost the ball on downs but the Indians were able to complete only one play before the final whistle sounded.

United, now 5-3 for the season under Carrino, will entertain a tough Springfield Local squad Saturday. Two of the Eagles' losses were by a total of three points as they lost, 13-12, to Reynolds, Pa., and 18-16 last week to Warren St. Mary's. Their initial defeat came at the hands of Leetonia, 22-8.

4 W. Branch Boys Score Touchdowns

Four players got into the scoring column as West Branch knocked off Beaver Local 28-6 at the Beavers' field Saturday. Coach Ron Dierk's aggregation pushed ahead in the second period to take a 12-0 lead. It was the Warriors' second straight win and third in eight starts this campaign.

Beaver Local is also 3 - 5. Coach Ed Stevens' unit ripped Carroiton 34-16 a week ago. Greg Johnson gave West Branch a 6-0 lead midway through the second stanza, when he sliced off tackle and dashed six yards for a touchdown.

SHERWOOD PLUNGED over from a yard out to give the Warriors a two touchdown lead at intermission.

The losers fought their way back into the contest early in the third session as Ed Derenberger caught a 15-yard TD pass from Norm Gaydos to cut the deficit to 12-6.

West Branch then went to the air for its next touchdown as John Menseh caught a beautiful pass from Gary Barber and raced into the end zone. The play covered 39 yards.

Buttermore completed the scoring, when he tallied a touchdown on a 13-yard run.

The Warriors' tight defensive held Beaver Local to 102 yards on the ground and only 40 passing. West Branch picked up 248 rushing and 91 through the air.

Salem Successfully Defends Title In Cross Country Meet

Tarleton Places 2nd, Pim 3rd For Quakers

Salem's cross country successfully defended its district championship as the Quakers finished first in a field of 19 teams with 59 points at Boardman Saturday.

The first 10 boys competing in the race broke the course record, with Jim Leahy of Youngstown Ursuline coming on in the last 50 yards to beat John Tarleton of Salem in 10:05.

The Quakers' distance star was timed in 10:10 for the two-mile event. Salem Tom Pim placed third in 10:21.

A total of 112 boys started the race and 102 of them finished.

Coaches Karl Zellers and Jack Alexander were attending a basketball clinic in Columbus with head cage mentor John Cabas, so Fred Cope, athletic director, took over the reins at Boardman in their absences.

Woodrow Wilson's Kanos finished fourth. He was followed by Cook of Boardman, LaRecca of Niles and Scott of Howland.

Boardman finished second in the meet with 110 points, followed by Leavittsburg, 113; Youngstown Ursuline, 138; Braceville, 169; Warren, 173; Woodrow Wilson, 174; Liberty, 175; Niles, 217; McDonald, 217; Southington, 262; Cortland, 278; Champion, 283; Springfield Local 323, Howland, 357 and Jackson-Milton, 490. Youngstown Raven and East Palestine did not score.

Salem and Boardman will enter teams in the state cross country meet at Columbus next Saturday morning.

Y. A. Tittle hit on 21 of 31 passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns, Alex Webster ran over for another score and Don Chandler booted field goals from the 29, 34, 33 and 42-yard lines and kicked three conversions for a total of 15 points.

How well the Giants controlled the ball can be seen in the statistics. They ran off 78 plays, or 40 more than Cleveland, which now has a 6-1 record compared with 5-2 marks for New York and St. Louis in the NFL Eastern Conference.

Jim Brown was held to 40 yards on nine carries and Frank Ryan completed only one of nine passes and that for a minus six yards to Ernie Green, who was injured on the play.

Temperers got out of control 52 seconds before the final gun when Brown and Giants' linebacker Tom Scott traded punches and both were ejected.

"I've got no comment about it," said Brown, who was a pass blocker. "It was just one of those things that happen in a game."

Scott said he was blitzing when he ran into Brown. "We just tangled and started swinging. That's all there was to it."

Both Sherman and Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier were willing to drop the matter. "It was a long day and tempers flare," said Sherman.

Bulldogs Clip Poland 14-8

Halfback Ray Harper tallied on a 30-yard end sweep to put East Palestine ahead in the second period, and the Bulldogs went on to post a 14-8 victory over Poland at the losers' field Saturday.

It was the fifth win in eight starts for the Bulldogs. Poland is 3-4.

In the third frame Ken Patton scored from 10 yards out to climax a 30-yard drive.

In the final frame the losers scored on a 75-yard play which began when Baker passed to Welch, who lateraled to Mehl.

Harper was the workhorse of the clash. He carried the pigskin 22 times for East Palestine and picked up 142 yards.

The winners, never forced to punt, made 283 yards rushing and 37 yards through the air, completing two of three passes.

Poland was held to 140 yards on the ground and five yards passing. The losers attempted six aeriels and completed two.

East Palestine made 16 first downs, compared to seven for Poland.

Ninowski Guides Cleveland To TD

Associated Press Sports Writer CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns highly inflated football bubble has finally burst.

The New York Giants punctured it Sunday, 33-6, with one of the most awesome offensive defensive displays the National Football League has ever seen.

Showing no respect for the Eastern Conference leaders and their six-game winning streak, the Giants scored the first seven times they had the ball, held quarterback Frank Ryan to minus six yards passing on one completion in nine tries, and stopped fullback Jim Brown with 40 yards in nine rushes.

Until the final six minutes, the Browns were never out of their own territory and had only two first downs. In 175 league games, including playoffs, the Browns have been beaten by 27 or more points only six times—and this was one of the most decisive.

After Ryan's troubles, Jim Ninowski came in at the finish to lead the Clevelanders 80 yards to a touchdown through the air—thus averting the first regular season shutout for the Browns since the third game of the 1950 season when the Giants blanked them 6-0.

Coach Blanton Collier, suffering his first league loss, took it in his usual quiet way.

"It isn't the end of the world," he said. "You don't have to play poorly to lose in this league. We played poorly today. New York outplayed us at every angle of the game and deserved to win."

"I think our emotional well just went dry. Our team has been keyed high each week, and we just couldn't stay up there."

Ryan, after his most embarrassing day, summed it up with "the pressure has been building up, we figured we might go all the way, and we tried too hard. Now the pressure's off, and it may be a good thing for us."

A crowd of 84,213, which boosted the five-game at-home total to 356,402, sat in stunned disbelief as the determined Giants took the Browns apart and avenged a 35-24 loss of just two weeks ago.

Y. A. Tittle, who has been in a rugged scrap with Ryan for the league's all-around passing honors, ran away from his youthful foe. The bald passing patriarch connected on 21 of 31 passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns while Ryan wound up in the deficit column.

Tittle now has completed 107 of 176 passes for 1,423 yards and 16 touchdowns, with two interceptions. Ryan completed 78 of 133 for 1,188 yards, with seven interceptions. The Cleveland passers, however, were firing from the grasp of opponents, on the run, or while falling as the Giant attackers broke through at will. In addition to Ryan's six-yard loss on his lone pass completion, he and Ninowski were tossed for 35 more by the on-rushing Giants.

Brown, held to his lowest total of the year, was ejected along with Tom Scott of New York after they traded nunches in the game's final minute.

The big fullback's fumble, on his first rushing attempt, gave the Giants the ball for the first of Don Chandler's four field goals.

That got New York off to a running start, and 25 seconds later they had a touchdown after Jim Patton intercepted a Ryan pass. Tittle passed 23 yards to Del Shofner for that score, giving the Giants a 10-0 edge in the first three minutes.

After that it was no contest. The Giants scored the next five times they got the ball. Sam Huff broke through to block Lou Broza's extra - point try after Ninowski's late touchdown toss to Rich Kreitling.

DeAngel Collects Both Blue Devils' Touchdowns

Western Reserve Scores In Last Minute To Trim Crestview 14-6

Western Reserve broke a 6-6 tie, by scoring a last-minute touchdown to defeat Crestview on the latter's field 14-6 Saturday. DeAngel scored the winning touchdown on a 11-yard pass from Sahli.

The first half was scoreless, with neither team able to cross the other's goal line. The Rebels penetrated to the Reserve 7-yard line in the closing moments of the second quarter, but the threat ended when a fourth down pass was intercepted by Reserve.

Western Reserve scored in the third quarter on a 55-yard drive, climaxed by a 10-yard pass from Sahli to DeAngel. The pass for the extra points failed when Crestview intercepted.

CRESTVIEW BEGAN the fourth quarter on its own 40-yard line. A sustained drive, aided by a 37-yard pass from Baughman to Henderson, reached paydirt when Baker scored from the 3-yard line. The PAT pass was intercepted by Reserve, leaving the teams deadlocked at 6-6.

In the waning moments of the game, Reserve began a touchdown drive from its own 53-yard stripe. Owen carried the ball on seven consecutive attempts for 35 yards in the drive. DeAngel scored the winning touchdown, and Owen ran for the extra points. Crestview returned the ensuing kickoff to the Reserve 51-yard line, but lost the ball on an intercepted pass as the gun ended the game.

Reserve had 11 first downs to 6 for Crestview. Reserve completed 3 out of 7 passes, with no interceptions. Crestview made good on 4 out of 12 attempts, with two interceptions. Reserve gained 131 yards rushing, 51 yards passing, and fumbled once with Crestview recovering. Crestview had 73 yards rushing, 77 yards passing, and had one fumble, with Reserve recovering. The hard-fought game was exceptionally clean.

with only three offside penalties called during the entire game.

Winning Coach Latessa said after the game: "It was a team effort the best in my five years' coaching at Reserve." The win gave Reserve a 5-3 record, and assured it of a winning season. They will close the season against the Bessemer Mohawks Saturday night at 7:30 at Sebring.

Crestview is 2-5-1 for the season, and will play its last game at Greenford this week.

Oakland Upsets San Diego 34-33 In AFL; Houston Triumphs 38-7

By MIKE RATHET

Sid Gillman, the ol' professor of the American Football League, has taught his pupils well. Too well for Coach Sid Gillman.

Two of Gillman's able assistants have become head coaches in the AFL—Jack Faulkner at Denver and Al Davis at Oakland. Faulkner's Broncos have beaten San Diego three times without a loss. Gillman matched wits with Davis for the first time Sunday.

He's 0-4 against his pupils now.

Cotton Davidson's nine-yard touchdown pass to Glenn Shaw, reactivated from the deferred injury list just before the game, carried the Raiders from behind to a stunning 34-33 upset of the Western Division leading Chargers.

The victory pulled the Raiders to within 1½ games of the front-runners. San Diego is 5-2, Oakland 4-4.

Houston took over the top spot in the East as George Blanda passed for three second half touchdowns in the Oilers' 28-7 triumph over Kansas City. Houston leads with a 5-3 record.

Houston took over the top spot second at 4-4 after a 28-21 loss to Buffalo Saturday night while New York remained in contention at 3-3-1 after a 35-35 tie with Denver before a record turnout in New York of 20,377.

The four-game program attracted 106,133, the season's high.

In the National League, New York overwhelmed Cleveland 33-6, Green Bay walloped Baltimore 34-20, St. Louis defeated Washington 21-7, Chicago downed Philadelphia 16-7, Pittsburgh edged Dallas 27-21, Detroit

Arnold Palmer Nicklaus Win Paris Tourney

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
PARIS (AP)—The United States, with Jack Nicklaus chalking up a fantastic run of birdies, won the Canada Cup Golf Tournament for the fourth straight year today as play in the final round was delayed by fog and then finally cut to nine holes.

Fred Corcoran, tournament director, ruled that all players must complete the 63 holes in order for the tournament to be official. But later he said there was no question but that all would complete today's nine holes thus making the victories of the U. S. and Nicklaus official.

Nicklaus birdied six of the nine holes and also won the individual title with a 63-hole total of 237 after being tied with South Africa's Gary Player at the end of 54 holes.

Arnold Palmer, a member of two of the three previous U. S. championship teams, had a 245 to give the U. S. a combined score of 482. Palmer had a 34 for the final nine holes.

The final round originally was scheduled for Sunday but was postponed because of a heavy fog. Fog blanketed the par 72 Saint-n-la Breteche links today but, after a long delay, lifted enough to permit the players from 33 countries to tee off. Corcoran ruled, however, that the round be reduced to nine holes because of weather conditions and the fact a number of the players have commitments in Australia Wednesday.

Spain, tied with Nicklaus and Palmer at 416 for the team championship going into the final round, ended up with 485. Sebastian Miguel had a 33 for a 63-hole total of 242 and Ramon Sota a 36 for a 243.

In the second session the winners marched 77 yards with Roeder slicing off tackle for the final six yards and a TD.

Tim Davis got Greenford back in the game when he plunged a yard in the final frame.

The Bobcats were held to 66 yards on the ground and 56 through the air. Greenford tried nine passes and completed four. The losers had eight first downs.
